Balcony nesting box

A light studio apartment with a balcony close to nature

This home has plenty of light thanks to its balcony and generous window. The fact that it is close to nature and offers a variety of views makes this a perfect home for many of our garden birds.

The balcony nesting box from Wildlife Garden is a nesting box that has been developed to entice Robins, Wrens, Spotted Flycatchers and Wagtails. These fussy birds have particular needs when choosing a home. It should allow in plenty of light, be placed close to the ground and be close to bushes. The nesting box has been developed in close collaboration with ornithological expertise and designed by the Swedish company Wildlife Garden.

The front can be opened, making the nesting box easy to clean. The projecting roof protects inhabitants from rain, birds of prey and cats.
