Small charmers that don't run away

Hedgehogs, squirrels, baby rabbits and field mice - they creep around among trees and bushes, but as soon as we get close to them they're off in a flash. These classic Swedish/European garden animals have come to be a model for a completely new series of wooden figures from Wildlife Garden.

DecoAnimal models are made in a natural size, painstakingly carved out of linden and beautifully painted with environmentally-friendly colours – small works of art that can brighten up any surroundings. Just don't be surprised when they stay where they are as you pass by.

The range also includes a series of twelve, hand-carved wooden birds launched earlier in the year.
